S MILES RACE OF TWO REGIMENTS. Defeat of "The Saucy Worcesters."

Two regiments of British infantry paraded in running "shorts" at Aldershot recently, says the "Daily Mail." The men of the 52nd Light Infantry (Oxford and Backs Regiment) and the men of the Worcesters; who, as their blazoned "colours tell, fought shoulder to shoulder in the grim days of the Peninsular Wars, now stood side by side in rivalry at Barossa-the, parade ground named Baressa, not the battlefield. The colonel of the Worcesters dropped his cap, and with a rush the two regiments dashed forward on a five miles' contest of speed.

The race was a sequel to a cross-country run in which the Worcesters, the 52nd (the Highland Light Infantry), and the Conneight Rangers took part earlier in the month. The Worcesters won on that occasion, and though it was only by the narrow margin of five seconds, they enried themselves with such an air that the young women of Aldershot dubbed them "The Saucy Worcesters." THE CHALLINGE.

Afterwords Major Ruck Keene, D.S.O., the officer commanding the 52nd Light Infantry, challenged Lieutenant-Colonel Westingcott, commanding the Worcesters, to a regimental Marathon. The 52nd lined up at the starting post 203 strong and wore green, and the Worcesters numbered 297 and were Ali Whites.

The route lay by the Club House, across the marshy ground by Ball Hill, and on towards Laffan's Plain. Near Ively Farm the course branched to the left in the "direction of Norris Bridge, and then continued along the line of the canal to Wharf Bridge, and so to the parade ground again.

PATE OF A PAT WORCERTER. It was heavy going towards Ball Hill, Several big ditches had to be cleared, and a fat Worcester, catching his foot on a stone took an involuntary header into four feet of water. Thirty-one minutes from the start a green streak flashed home to Albuera. This was Corporal E. J. Smith, of A Company of the 52nd, passed the post four minutes ahead of any rival. Nine other men of the 52nd trooped in before the first Worcester was sighted. He, however, was the herald of a big batch of "Old Bolds."

The race was to be awarded to the regiment with the first fifty, men home, and it was a close shave, for the 52nd's half-hundred were not sale within the fold before the Worcesters had forty-six

FORTUNE-TELLER'S ACCURACY.

From Landermean, near Brest, comean extraordinary tale of mystery and crime, says the Paris correspondence of the "Daily Telegraph." The body of wealthy manufacturer, who disappeared

six, weeks ago, has been discovered buried in a wood near his works in the exact spet indicated by a fortune-teller of Narley, consulted by a friend of the dead man's wife. Towards the end of last year M. Cadiou, who lived at Paris but frequently visited the cellulose factory of the Grande Palud at Landerneau, of which he was a director, disappeared.

He had been seen for the last time on

Dec. 30 by the landfuly of the rooms

which he occupied on his visits to Landerness. In the afternoon he had gone out, saying tout he might return to Paris

In any case, he said, his landlady must buy the milk as usual, as, if he did not need it for his breakfast next morning,

he would drink it before taking the night

On the following day, when the woman came up to put his room in order, she found that the bed had not been slept in. Assuming that he had returned to Paris, she was not at all uneasy. On

Dec. 31 Madamo Cadiou was at the Gare

-who know.

Cadiou was at first naturally sceptical, But he recollected that close to the factory there was a mill and near the mi plantation, which answered to the fortune-teller's description. This plantution he searched carefully, but for an hour in vain. At last, when he was about to abandon the search he found a spot where the earth seemed to have been freshly disturbed. He dug with his pick, and soon struck a piece of cloth In a frenzy of excitement he knelt down and began turning up the earth with his bore hands. As a few inches below the surface he discovered the mutilated body of his brother. He ran to the factory to summon help and gave orders that the police should be informed. The body was carried to the factory, and there it was discovered that the body of the murdered manufacturer bore two terrible wounds. The skull had been crushed with some heavy instrument, and the neck almost severed, probably by pruning-hook. The dead man's clothes were torn, as if in a fierce struggle for life. His hands were gloved, a fact which proves that the attack had been sudden and unexpected.

On the formal accusation of M. Jean Cadiou, brother of the victim and discoverer of the body, M. Pierre, the engineer of the factory, has been arrested on the charge of murder. The engineer had, it is said, received notice of dismissal from M. Cadiou a few days before the latter's disappearance. M. Pierre protests his innocence, in spite of the fact that in an out-house in which he kept his tools has been found a pick-axe with several hairs adhering to it. The engineer explains that he had used the pick to kill a rabbit.

NIJ NSKY IN LONDON.

TO APPEAR AT THE PALACE.

Famous Russian Dancer.

Mr. Alfred Butt has secured the disdingulahed Russian dancer, Nijinsky, for a four weeks season at the Palace, begirning on Monday, March 2.

The engagement must cortainly be ratiked among the biggest achievements which the Lindon music-hall 4tage has so far, to its credit. Nijinsky has been hailed as the greatest dancer of the age The position thus claimed for him is hardly likely to be contested by anyone having the least pretentions to speak inthoritatively on the subject of the art of the dancer. The measure of man's taleut is not, of course, to b gauged by the amount of his income but, after all, there is something to be said for such a test, and it may confidently be asserted that Nijinsky commands ration than any of his rivals. reputation. And, without betraying con- that he knew everything from his birth. fidences, it may be hinted that it took It requires a serious effort to make us some time to satisfy him that the lead. realise that this expert mime, this great ing London variety theatres stood on a level with, certainly not lower than, that he studies every aspect of his part with occupied by the regular playhouses.

Three weeks have clapsed since negociutionis .were first started. At Mr Butt's request Mr. Rudolf Mayer proceeded to Buda-Pesth, and subsequently to Paris, in order to bring these to an issue. In point of fact they were broken off several times. But in the end Mr. Mayer accomplished his object.

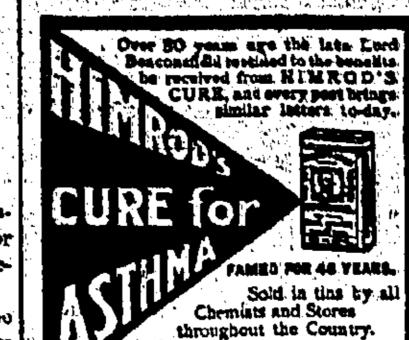

It is customary nowadays to speak of record-breaking salaries. As a simple statement of fact it may be mentioned however, that the cost of this one engagement to the Palace will run into more than four figures per week. Notwithstanding this, Mr. Butt has no intention whatever of raising prices. It may be remembered that when Nijinsky appeared at Convent Garden the charge for stalls, graph." on the contrary, was increased from 21s

At the Palace Nijinsky will be surrounded by a picked ballet from St. Petersburg and Moscow. Scenery and costumes, further, will be the work of the same artists and designeers who helped to make the Convent Garden productions famous. During his season he will present "The Spectro of the Rose, with Weber's music, "The Carnival of Schumann, "Les Sylphides," by Thopin, and a new version of his own of a rhapsody by Liszt, which has not yet been performed in London.

NUINSET'S CAREER. In may not be amins to say a few wordsabout the artist himself. Nijinsky was born in Warsaw twenty four years agoo His father and mother were both closely connected with the branch of the Russian ballet established there, the former being uarly promoted to the rank of ballet master. At an early age Nijinsky began to reveal the characteristics of a unique talent, and when nine years old was transferred from Warsaw and enlisted as scholar in the Imperial ballet, St. Peters burg. By the time he was 18 he had sufficiently distinguished himself to secure a place in the front rank of contemporary dancers. A year later he was the icknowledged idol of the St. Petersburg

His first appearance with the Russian ballet at the Chatelet Theatro in Paris in "Pavillon d'Armide" brought him instant and an wider recognition. His amazing leaps on the stage, his highly finished technique, his graceful movements, stamped him as a dancer of the boo, one inside the other. The outer is

A FRANK "APPECLATION."

Beware of Imitations

There exists an "approxiation" of Nijinsky, written by Francis de Miomanire. It is conceived in a spirit of unalloyed, yet obviously honest, admiration. Allowing for the frank enthusiasm of a whole-hearted partisan, it may be read, however, with interest. There can, at least, be no harm in quoting one paragraph. "The impression of unreality," it runs, "which Nijinsky's paradoxical Also, he is particularly jealous of his youth gives 'might almost persuade' us actor, leaves nothing to caprice, that incticulous care. Almost does he cause us to forget this fact, so natural are his movements and his attitudes. This. perhaps, is the finest homage one can pay an artist—to imagine, not that he is noting, but that he actually lives the part. Shall we ever know how much Nijinsky translates of his own sensitive being into the role, tragic or tender, which at the moment he assumes? "A true poet like him can never lie or withhord anything from the public. He yields nimself entirely to the compelling power of his imagination. He is not an actor for whom a change of costume is sufficient to denote an alteration of character, but man who seeks to penetrate to the very souls of others."-" Daily Tele-

PAGLIACCI "-NEW PROLOGUE.

A correspondent of the "Liverpool Post " is reminded of the story of a wellknown Italian baritone who sang first in Amoriea with a grand opera company touring in the West. "Pagliscoi." was to be produced in a certain large Western city for the first time, and the box office receipts hid been exceptionally big. But Signor had not been paid. Finding all remonstrance futile, he decided to hold up the performance, and going before the curtain, he excitedly told his troubles to the sudience in broken

BRIDGE PARTY.

Mr. H. G. Savill, the chief clerk, read Miss Lucena's sworn information, upor the strength of which the warrant wa granted. The lady said that the accused was introduced to her about Dec. 16, all bridge party at 46, Brunswick-place, Hove. Hu made himself very pleasant to her, and mentioned the name of certain captain known to her whom I said was also a friend of his. After som further conversation she asked him join a small bridge party at the Susser County Club after dinner on the follow ing Seturday, and he agreed. On the Saturday morning he rang her up an suggested that before the party she should dine with him at the Metropole, and she scoepted the invitation. During the progress of dinner Major talked of money matters, and led her the belief that he was in a position make good investments for his friends On Dec. 28 they again dined together Brighton, when the accused told-her some of his past life. He also said he had taken a great fancy to her, spoke of Subsequently, while lunching wi Mason at the Pier Hotel, he told her of certain incident in his life. He said he had been in trouble with a woman Puris. He then definitely resked he (Miss Lucena) to marry him, and mean time to live in a flat in town at his ex pense. The latter proposition she declin ol to ontertain.

RITUAL AND ETIQUETTE

It is somewhat disappointing and perhaps not altogether without a dash of the amusing that to-day, when there are so many things in China that need adjusting, so many ills that need removing, and some questions that need careful handling, to the matter of ritual and etiqueite; some little time, when perhaps the the former in respect of its fitness for minds of men will be clearer, their the worship of the gods, the latter outlook less dimmed by devotion to as may be suitable for intercourse between man and man and between the different grades of society. We do not for a moment wish to belittle the serious bearing which ritual and etiquette may have upon family social and political life on the one hand and on man's relationship towards the spirit world on the other. We merely say that, in our opinion, such matters are not of supreme importance at present, and ought to be postponed till certain other questions that seem to press forward more applied. clamantly for settlement are carefully looked into and resolutely grappled Such, however, does not appear to strike some sections of the Chinese people. The question which seems to be demanding attention at present is the nature of the ritual which should be adoptthe sacrificing to Confucius. The writers are going back to the days of the Chan dynasty, and unearthing what they regard as the orthodox teaching from those for of days. Nor do they seem to be cognisant of the fact that at that period the worship of Confucius was never contemplated

It appears that during the days of this

LITERARY NOTES

Messre. Methuen and Co's New Publications.

Mesers. Methuen and Co. have just published the following:-'A new novel by Mr. E. Phillips Oppen heim, entitled "The Way of These Women." In this story, Mr. Oppenheim has boldly deserted the somewhat complicated mechanism which goes to the making of modern romance. He has contented himself with weaving a tensely written story around one event, and concentrating the whole love interest of the book upon two people. A novel by Mr. W. Douglas Newton entitled "War." This curious and start. ling book shows in general the Juggermust progress of a foreign army through effect of that progress on a mind un acquainted with war save as an entertaining item of news. War is robbed of its glamour and stands stark, bitter, ugly, Mrs. B. M. Croker's delightful story 'Katherine The Arrogent' has been udded to the series of two-shilling novels.

The January number of the Studio is one of singular interest. Plates of exceptional beauty, illustrate an ably written appreciation of the work of W. Russell Flint, the romanticist painter, among them being "The Huntress and the Knight" (the property of Sir Aston Webb, R.A.), "Autumn's Fading Glory -a typical example of his landscape work -and a sketch of the Marina Grande | Borrento. The publication of two article descriptive of sketching grounds in w photography is the medium employed illustration marks a somewhat new de parture. Mr. Frank Hydo writes of Capri as a place which he knows and loves well, and ones only regret is the he did not picture it from his shetch book, admirable as are his photographs. The same applies to Mr. W. Holland with its spacious sendy wastes set verdant cases. The other features of number include articles dealing with Now English Art Club; and examples of modern English jewellery.

Comment on Leith Bye-Election.

LONDON, Feb. 28. The election of a Conservative, for the first time in the history of Leith, is most surprising, as the Liberal nominee was a strong one, being the Provest. The great increase in the Labour vote was totally unexpected,

The result of the polling was an mounced too late to be dealt with in the editorials of the morning papers.

The Morning Post, in a brief leader ette, says a contributory cause of the result was the deportation of Labour leaders in South Africa, which was cloing infinite harm among the workers. The journal adds: "The contest at Leith is only the beginning of a controversy which we regard with the gravest forebodings."

The result was vociferously cheered by the Unionista in the House of Com-

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking "on *time," reported to the gibes of the Opposition by saying that "compared with 1900 we have a majority of 3,000 for Home Rule and Land Reforms."

Mr. Currie, when interviewed, said 41It is Scotland's notice to quit." The election, he declared, was fougit-chiefly on the question of Home Rule.

Mr. Smith admitted that the result was disappointing, and that it was the nature of a calamity.

Mr. Bonar Law has telegraphed to Mr. Currie :- "The victory will appear as the crowning mercy to the Leyalists of Ireland."

THE MEXICAN CRISIS.

'The Landing of an Armed Force.

LONDON, Feb. 27. A telegram from Washington states that President Wilson, questioned regarding the rumour that President Huerta had refused to allow an American Legation guard to be sent to Mexico City said be would send an American Admiral, and that he did not think the despatch of Marines necessary. The President added that he was anable to see any parallel to the present conditions in Mexico in the Boxer troubles in China. He was of opinion that no armed force could be landed in Mexico under International Law without proveking war, unless the Mexican authorities consented.

HONGKONG TIDES.

The tide table given below has been compiled at the Nautical Almana Uffice in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of in antemporario tide recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Taim bha Tsui during the years 1887 8-9.
The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the sounding in the Admiralty. Charts which has been found to be 4 feet Sinches below mean sea level.

To obtain the depth of water on the tide:

gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add F-feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet 6 inches to the height given in the table.
